

Ted Place

Biography

Ted Place is originally from Albany, Mo and received his BS from Northwest Missouri State University in Journalism/Broadcasting. He is currently the Senior Vice President and Chief Development Officer at Kansas City PBS.

Ted has worked for 20 years in fundraising and development; his experience includes time in both community service and educational institutions. He is an alumnus of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce Centurions program and currently serves on the board of the Northwest Missouri State University Foundation as well as the Community Foundation of Northwest Missouri.

He lives in Kansas City, north with his wife, Kate and children, Ben and Claire.